The Equine Research Hall of Fame
at the University of Kentucky’s Maxwell H. Gluck Equine Research Center

Nomination Information
Presented by the University of Kentucky Gluck Equine Research Foundation

The University of Kentucky Gluck Equine Research Foundation is pleased to announce the call for nominations for the Equine Research Hall of Fame, which recognizes individuals who have had a distinguished career in equine research.

The Hall of Fame is located at the University of Kentucky’s Maxwell H. Gluck Equine Research Center in Lexington, Kentucky. The Hall of Fame was established to honor those individuals who have dedicated their careers to expanding the body of knowledge in some field of equine science through their contributions to basic or applied research. The Hall of Fame is a lasting tribute to those internationally renowned for their endeavors as equine researchers.

All nominations will be submitted to an international review committee comprised of current living members of the Equine Research Hall of Fame, who will recommend to the Foundation’s Hall of Fame Committee, nominees whom they consider qualified for this unique distinction. The University of Kentucky Gluck Equine Research Foundation will announce those selected for induction.

Those eligible for consideration must have contributed significantly to the field of equine research over an extended period. Nominees may be active, retired or deceased (posthumous award).
